When you want to use accrued vacation time, discuss your request with your manager. Your manager must approve your request in advance before you can take vacation.

All Simmons employees are responsible for tracking via the Workday system any time off requested or taken. Your manager can decline to approve a request to take vacation days if prior time-off have not been entered into the Workday system.

Although the University will strive to accommodate your request, there may be times when you may be unable to take vacation days when you have asked to do so, and you will need to take your vacation at another time. Generally, you may not use vacation time that has not yet accrued. If approved in advance, you may use vacation days for religious holidays, personal days, and other times that you desire or need to take time off from work and want to be paid for that time off.

III. HOW AND WHEN DOES VACATION TIME ACCRUE?

You begin to earn vacation time when you begin working for Simmons. If you begin employment before the 15th of the month, you earn the full vacation accrual for that month. If you begin employment after the 15th of the month, you earn half of the vacation accrual for that month. While you are on a leave of absence, you do not earn any vacation time unless you are using vacation time while on leave.

New employees generally may not take vacation until they have worked in their position for at least three months. Managers may, at their discretion, make an exception to this policy and allow new employees to take vacation or unpaid time off during their first three months of employment.

IV. MAY I CARRY OVER UNUSED VACATION DAYS FROM ONE FISCAL YEAR TO THE NEXT?

Yes. If you accrue vacation time, you may carry over a portion of your accrued but unused vacation days from one fiscal year to the next. If you have more accrued but unused vacation days than are permitted by the carry-over limit, you will forfeit those vacation days.

- Vacation carry-over may not exceed 10 days.
 - Part-time benefit-eligible staff may carry over up to two times their weekly scheduled hours.

V. WHAT HAPPENS TO MY VACATION DAYS WHEN I LEAVE SIMMONS?

If you have accrued but unused vacation days when your employment ends, you will be compensated for the value of those accrued but unused vacation day when your employment concludes.

If you voluntarily resign from your employment, the value of your unused vacation day shall be paid out to you on the first regular payroll date after the last day of your employment.

If you are involuntarily terminated from your employment, the value of your unused vacation days shall be paid to you on your last day of employment.

If, at the time of your termination, you are on a paid suspension, and the University determines that it has grounds to terminate you, your accrued, unused vacation days may be used to set off any days you were suspended with pay.

Please note that:

- Exempt employees working a scheduled 40 hours/week can utilize vacation time in 4-hour increments, and exempt employees working a scheduled less than 40 hours/week can utilize vacation time in hourly increments.
- Non-exempt employees can utilize vacation time in hourly increments.
- Union affiliated employees should refer to their collective bargaining agreements.
- All vacation requests must be approved in advance by your manager before you can take vacation.
