

Simmons University Personal Web Publishing Policy

Simmons University provides computer accounts and access to technology resources for all faculty, students, and staff for educational-related purposes.

Individual (personal) pages (as denoted by "~username" in the URL) are provided as professional and educational work areas. These individual pages are reviewed for adherence to technical standards only. Individual page content is determined by the page owner, is not reviewed by the College, and is subject to review upon receipt of complaint from a responsible party. All personal web pages must contain a link to this disclaimer.

Simmons College assumes no responsibility for, nor does it endorse the contents of any personal/individual World Wide Web page. However, if you believe the content of a personal page is inconsistent with the current Acceptable Use Policy, please contact servicedesk.simmons.edu.
