Transfer of Credit

With the approval of Simmons-SLIS faculty, the School will accept credit for graduate work completed at another ALA-accredited graduate institution towards the Master of Science degree. Under special circumstances, the faculty may approve exceptions to the ALA accreditation requirement. You may petition to transfer up to six credits, in elective courses or core course waivers. Graduate level courses taken towards an earned degree will not be considered for transfer of credit.

Students who enter the school with an acceptable background of graduate study in library and information science from an ALA-accredited program may, upon completion of nine credits at the School, petition the faculty for a course waiver in addition to a transfer of credit. A waiver may be requested with no transfer of credit to substitute an elective course from the LIS curriculum for a required course. A waiver may only be requested if there is sufficient proof of the knowledge of the material covered in the required course to warrant such a waiver. The petition procedure is the same as above. A transfer of credit and a waiver may be requested with a single petition.
